NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TEAMS

Mavericks Win 1975 AIAW Women's College World Series

Claussen Begins Fight For Women's Athletics

The 1975 UNO Maverick softball team, under the direction of head coach Connie Claussen, overcame tough obstacles to capture its first national championship after a teetering battle with Northern Iowa.

Injuries sustained by two top players, Kathy Drickey and Michele Gehringer, limited the UNO team's potential in the finals with Northern Iowa, forcing its only loss, 11-1, in the double-elimination series.

However, the return of Gehringer helped UNO rally to a 6-4 victory over Northern Iowa in the title game.

In the title game, UNO scored two runs in the first inning on three errors and a double by Connie Wichman after Northern Iowa had taken a 1-0 lead.

In the second, three singles and two errors accounted for the Mavericks' other four runs. Northern Iowa rallied for three runs in the seventh, but the winning pitcher Pat Linson stopped the threat with a complete game victory.

"I expected to win, even after we lost that first game," said Claussen. "I knew we had the ball club."

Claussen was forced to juggle the lineup when Drickey, the starting shortstop, was struck in the eye by a pitched ball, but she said that it caused few problems.

"The biggest asset our team had was that I could put players in different positions. I could switch my players around and not really hurt the team that much," said Claussen.

With six freshman starters, the Mavericks were the youngest team in the 18-team Women's College World Series field. The team ended its season with a 17-7 record.

Strong pitching by Pat Linson (2-0) and Julie Wolf (3-1) enabled the Mavericks to shutout three of their opponents: South Dakota, Oregon, and Northern Iowa.

Claussen also made a bid for more financial support. "I hope maybe that winning the CWS might help women's athletics get some money for next year. As for now, the Legislature has definitely turned it down.

"We've had a good year in women's sports at UNO. Now the College Worlds Series is over I'll have to just sit down and look things over and see what I can do."

Connie Claussen raises the 1975 national championship trophy after UNO's 6-4 victory over Northern Iowa.

Freshman Pat Linson was the winning pitcher in the championship game of both the 1975 State Tournament and the College World Series.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TEAMS

Champ Mavs Realize Dream in 2001

By Craig Sesker, World-Herald Staff Writer

(Reprinted by permission of the Omaha World-Herald)

SALEM, Va.—Most teams would call it adversity. Having to battle through driving rain and sloppy playing conditions. Enduring seemingly countless weather delays. Staving off elimination three times. Having to win back-to-back games on the final day of the season to realize their season-long dream.

But not the University of Nebraska at Omaha softball team. Through it all, UNO never flinched. And never lost its composure. Intently focused on their pursuit of winning the school's first-ever NCAA Division II softball championship, the Mavericks would let nothing distract them and nothing stand in their way.

That's why they will return home with the national championship trophy.

The third-ranked Mavericks capped a remarkable run to the national title as sophomore Krista Unger fired a two-hitter to boost UNO to a convincing 4-0 win over No. 8 Lewis (Ill.) in the championship game May 21 at the Moyer Sports Complex.

"UNO's always had a tradition of winning," UNO Coach Jeanne Tostenson said. "They have been to this tournament many times, they have just never got over the hump of winning it. These kids had no doubt in their mind that they could do it."

"All the hard work finally paid off. Not just the hard work, but the belief and the confidence they had throughout the whole season. The one loss we had here they just bounced right back. To be able to do that at this level is unbelievable."

The national title was UNO's second after the 1975 Mavericks won the AIAW championship. UNO's best finish at the NCAA Division II tournament was second in 1996.

UNO capped a memorable 54-6 season by winning its final four games of the tournament. The Mavericks avenged their only loss of the tournament by beating Humboldt State 5-1 in an elimination game Monday morning before finishing off Lewis (55-13) in the finals.

The Mavericks, who fought through the losers' bracket to win the title after falling 6-2 to Humboldt in the winners' bracket semifinals on Friday, beat Lewis for the second time in 16 hours. The Mavs blanked Lewis 3-0 on Sunday night.

The 27-year-old Tostenson, in just her second year as the Mavericks' head coach, led UNO to a 52-14 record her first year after succeeding long-time Coach Mary Yori. The Mavs made four national appearances in Yori's 11 seasons at UNO.

"I always try to give Mary credit," Tostenson said. "She brought in a lot of these kids. We just added a couple more to improve on the depth. We just had them work hard and work on their fundamentals non-stop."

Lewis appeared to have the edge Monday since it already clinched a spot in the championship game and would be fresh to meet the UNO-Humboldt State winner. The Flyers' No. 1 pitcher, Kim Mackinson, also did not take part in the first loss to the Mavs as Lewis went with No. 2 pitcher Emily Granath.

But the Mavericks struck for four first-inning runs against Mackinson, more than enough support for the nearly unhittable Unger, who won three of her team's five tournament games.

"I expected us to do this," Unger said of winning the title. "I am not really surprised, but I am happy we did it."

UNO's Jenny Redlinger started the first inning with a single before Kelsey Duckworth followed with a bunt single. Jennifer Carson then bunted the runners to second and third, reaching safely to load the bases when Lewis second baseman Mandy Driscoll dropped the ball for an error.

The Mavericks broke through when junior Kelly Moats ripped a single to left field to drive in Redlinger. Tiffany Jones then flew out to short left field. Duckworth held at third until Lewis left fielder Miranda Fudge gunned the ball to the backstop, allowing Duckworth to score.

Freshman catcher Sarah Scheppers, the Mavs' best clutch hitter in the tournament, then came through again by drilling a two-run double to left-center field to make it 4-0.

"The pitch was there and the runners were on so I had to find a way to get them in," Scheppers said. "I knew that was a situation where I needed to come through."

Magnificent pitching was clearly the key for the Mavericks. Unger, from Missouri Valley, Iowa, baffled Lewis by relying on a devastating changeup. Unger (23-3), pitching with a blood clot in her right arm that she plans to have removed during the offseason, struck out five and did not walk a batter.

"We really wanted to get off to a good start, but we got behind and that was the whole story," Lewis Coach George DiMatteo said. "That first inning was critical. We tried to come back but their pitcher kept us off-balance with a tremendous changeup and occasionally slipped a fastball by us."

UNO senior pitcher Michelle Manthei, an All-American, shut out Lewis on Sunday night.

When Jones, UNO's first baseman, gloved Wendy Rochon's soft, check swing liner to end the game, it was only fitting that the Mavericks sprinted to the pitchers mound to celebrate.

In the Mavericks' five wins in Salem, they recorded three shutouts and allowed a total of just two runs.

In the win over Humboldt State, Manthei retired 21 of the 24 batters she faced. Manthei (27-3) struck out six and did not walk a batter against the Lumberjacks, the 1999 national champions.

"We had total confidence in both pitchers," UNO Pitching Coach Cory Petermann said. "We knew they could both dominate like they did today. They showed why they are two of the top pitchers in the country."

Facing elimination for the third straight game, the Mavs led 2-1 before striking for three sixth-inning runs against the Lumberjacks. Carson highlighted the inning with a two-out, two-run single.

Seeing North Central Conference rival North Dakota State win the 2000 national title also provided the Mavs with some incentive this year. UNO eliminated top-ranked NDSU on its home field in Fargo at the regional tournament.

"Seeing them do it, a team we had beaten three times last year, that showed us where we could have been," Tostenson said. "We knew we had all the pieces in place to do it, especially with all our depth and the two pitchers on our staff. It hasn't sunk in for any of us yet but we knew we could do it in the long run."

Notes: Four Mavericks were named to the all-tournament team: Krista Unger, Sarah Scheppers, Kelly Moats, and Kelsey Duckworth.
